HIBERNIANS

Working Hard to Secure 500 New Members Before St. Patrick's Day.

National Secretary James P. Carroll Will Be Here to Inlitate.

Members Now Talking of Buying a Hall of Their Own.

NOW IS THE TIME TO JOIN

The Ancient Order of Hibernians in Louisville point with pride to the fact that when called upon to do things it does things without parade or bluster. When it was suggested a short while ago that the coming St. Patrick's day in Louisville and in Kentucky might be made memorable by a big celebration and the addition of at least 500 names to the roster of the various divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in Louisville and Jefferson county there was at once a generous response. It looks now like more than the 500 names will be added to the list, and there is no reason why as many as 1,000 names should not be added to the membership. There is a Catholic population in the city of Louisville of over 50,000 and the majority of these are of Irish birth or extraction. The Ancient Order of Hibernians is a society in which all persons of Irish extraction can affiliate. The society does more for charity, the cause of religion and morality than any other organization of the kind connected with the church. The Hibernians are so strong in Louisville that they are now considering the advisability of buying or building a hall of their own. The A. O. H. is a living, growing organization and has come to stay.

Arrangements have been made to make the forthcoming celebration on St. Patrick's day a memorable one. National Secretary James T. Carroll, of Columbus, Ohio, will be present on the occasion of the initiation of the 500 new members on St. Patrick's day. The initiation will take place at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, on Sixth street. Mr. Carroll is one of the most distinguished members of the order in America.

At the last general meeting of the A. O. H. for Louisville and Jefferson county the subject of securing a hall was brought up and it was suggested that a stock company be formed to raise sufficient money to carry out the project. Most of the members are enthusiastic over the suggestion.

The members of the various divisions are now working hard to secure more applications, and within a few days the required number will probably be procured.

The general meeting Monday night was an enthusiastic one, with the best of feeling prevailing. Upon motion it was decided that all members approach holy communion at St. Patrick's church on Sunday, March 12. While a number of subjects were discussed, the only business transacted referred to the St. Patrick's day initiation, all other matters being referred to the County Board of Directors.

The team that will confer the degrees and exemplify the ritual was selected with great care from the four divisions and will be composed of the following members:

Patrician—Patrick T. Sullivan.
Bard—James Barry.
Oracle—Dave Reilly.
Scribe—Thomas Quinn.
Grand Guide—John Keany.
Music Director—D. J. Coleman.
Choir—Thomas Walsh, John J. Cronin, Thos. Keenan, Jr., Newton G. Rogers, Joseph Leihan, P. J. Welsh, Michael J. Quinn, George Butler, John J. Barry, Sylvester Doyle, Louis Dugan, Frank Burke.

WITH THE SICK

Bishop McCloskey and Several Clergymen Much Better.

Readers of the Kentucky Irish American will rejoice to learn that the Right Rev. Bishop McCloskey, whose illness caused general regret and solicitude here and elsewhere, has greatly improved this week and his rapid recovery is now looked for. The Bishop still remains at the Cathedral rectory, where hundreds have called to inquire after his condition. His friends throughout the archdiocese hope he will be sufficiently recovered to confer the pallium on Archbishop Moeller in the Cathedral at Cincinnati on Wednesday, February 15. Being the oldest Bishop he has been selected for the ceremony of the investiture, and Cardinal Gibbons will preach the sermon. There is much rejoicing in St. Michael's parish over the recovery of their beloved pastor, Rev. John Sheridan, who has returned from Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital and resumed his labors. Father Sheridan had a severe spell of illness and for some days his friends were worried over his condition.

Rev. Father A. J. Brady, of St. Cecilia's, who was quite ill for ten days with the grip, is reported much better, and it is thought that next week he will again be able to perform all his duties.

Rev. William Gausepohl, of St. Mary Magdalen's, who was critically ill with pneumonia, is making favorable progress toward recovery, to the great relief of his many admirers in all parts of the city. For several days hope was almost abandoned in his case, and the news of his changed condition was received with much rejoicing.

NATIONAL COUNCIL

Presents Louisville Knights of Columbus a Handsome Testimonial.

The National Council of the Knights of Columbus have sent to the Hon. James J. Fitzgerald a most handsomely engrossed testimonial for presentation to Louisville Council. It is contained in a massive frame and reads as follows:

"Resolved, That the twenty-second annual convention, National Council of the Knights of Columbus, held at Louisville, Ky., June 7, 8 and 9, 1904, the first regular meeting held in a city other than that which gave the order its birth, extend their sincere thanks to their brothers of Louisville Council, No. 390, for their hospitality and generosity. The far-famed hospitality of Kentucky has been an anticipation. Today it is a realization, the memory of which will never fail, and the Board of Directors, on behalf of the National Council, are hereby directed to present to Louisville Council a suitably engrossed copy of this expression of their appreciation.

"By virtue of the above resolution the Board of Directors of the Knights of Columbus herewith present this engrossed copy to Louisville Council, 390, Knights of Columbus."

The testimonial bears the signature of Supreme Knight Edward L. Hearn and Supreme Secretary Daniel Colwell and will be highly prized, as it is the first of this kind ever issued. Due preparation will be made for the presentation, the date for which has not yet been set.

STROKE WAS FATAL

Lawrence MacCabe Succumbs to Sudden Stroke of Apoplexy.

The funeral of Lawrence MacCabe, who suffered a sudden and fatal stroke of apoplexy Saturday evening at his home, 2212 Fourth avenue, was held Monday morning from the family residence. That the death of this worthy man caused profound sorrow and that he was held in the highest respect by all who knew him was attested by the large gathering at the obsequies. Holy Name church, of which Mr. MacCabe was a devout and faithful member, being one of its oldest communicants, was filled with the mourning relatives and friends when the body was borne to the altar. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by the Rev. Father O'Connor, who also preached a feeling funeral sermon. Following the solemn ceremony, which was brought to a close with the words of final absolution, the body was borne to St. Louis cemetery and there interred.

Mr. MacCabe was a native of Ireland, but came to this country about fifty years ago. At the outbreak of the civil war he espoused the cause of the Confederacy and served with distinction, being commissioned for his bravery and military knowledge. Coming here at the close of the war he engaged in the marble cutting business, but retired ten years ago. He was also active in Catholic fraternal circles and one of the charter members of Branch 14, C. K. of A. Besides his wife eight children survive. They are Messrs. Lawrence MacCabe, Jr., of Philadelphia; Leonard, Henry, Joseph and Robert MacCabe, Mrs. Tracy Girdler and Misses Elizabeth and Nora MacCabe, of this city.

PROMISE GRAND SUPPER.

The ladies of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament are arranging a great feast for next Wednesday evening, when they will serve another of their famed suppers in the school hall at the corner of Buchanan and Washington streets. All the delicacies of the season will be served and they promise all a jolly good time. The worthy ladies who have the affair in charge are endeavoring to secure funds with which to assist the Rev. Father O'Sullivan in his work, who at this season has very many calls upon him. All the pretty girls of the parish will be there to aid and receive their friends, and they invite everybody to come and be served by them.

JOHN IN LUCK.

John Richard, a young man well known in Hibernian and Y. M. I. circles in New Albany, left Wednesday for Indianapolis to accept a splendid position offered him the first of the year. For the past eight years he was with the Vogt Machine Company and was popular with his fellow-workmen, who are glad that he has received a more remunerative and responsible position.

INTO DECAY.

Many Venerable Buildings in Venice Have Been Falling For Years.

The Latest Reported Is the Grand Church of San Marco.

Repairs Are to Be Made by the Local and Italian Governments.

TO BE CARRIED ON SCIENTIFICALLY

One by one the ancient buildings of Venice, queen of the Adriatic, built upon an archipelago composed of many small islands, are falling into decay. The latest to give indications of possible collapse is the Church of San Marco, which was venerable even when the republic on the Adriatic was in the heyday of its power. The unexpected fall of the campanile of St. Mark's seems to have been a blessing in disguise, as it called to the attention of authorities in Venice the crumbling condition of many of its ancient buildings. So bad is the condition of the vaults of St. Mark's, called the Paradise and Apocalypse, that their complete and definite restoration is absolutely necessary. It is considered a miracle that they maintain today their equilibrium.

Until the time Venice became a part of united Italy its inhabitants, undeterred by repeated warning, did nothing to insure the permanency of their historic buildings. In order to erect the massive stone structures which gird the canals of the city, it was necessary to drive piles upon which to erect the foundations. Then, too, Venice is an old city, so old, in fact, that it stopped growing ages ago, certainly centuries ago, having been founded in the year 421. Much of the evil which has fallen upon Venice is traceable to the shocks of earthquake, but not a little may also be laid at the door of neglect.

The reign of neglect, however, is now over, as recently careful examinations of all the historic buildings still standing have been made by Prof. Manfredi Manfredi, an eminent architect; Sig. Luigi Marangoni, an engineer, and Commendator Boni, who is looked upon as the greatest living authority on Venice. The report of Prof. Manfredi and Sig. Marangoni, recently submitted, gave some alarming information about the condition of this basilica. In the foundations, which have been constantly giving way in divers directions. All the walls show such cracking and weakening that it leads the condition that under the magnificent dress of marble and mosaic is concealed the most alarming decrepitude.

For some time past the Government has allowed $10,000 a year for keeping St. Mark's in repair. All of this has not been used, so that there is a considerable amount of money in hand toward the $30,000 immediately needed to restore and preserve the ancient structure. Under the grand old basilica of St. Mark's lie buried the remains of the lion-hearted saint in whose honor the edifice was raised. It is referred to as the loadstone of the Place or Piazza of St. Mark's and the Place of St. Mark.

Prof. Edward Sues, the well known Austrian geologist, declares that it is surprising that the ground upon which Venice is built has supported for so many centuries the enormous weight of buildings upon it. The foundations are built upon piles, which in the course of time become soft. Gases are generated from vegetable substances and when these escape the ground sinks and serious subsidence occurs. Looking toward the restoration, Commendator Boni recommends the removal of the mosaics and marble from inside the basilica of St. Mark's Cathedral. He says: "Ancient buildings must be treated like invalids. They must be cured without clothes or not fully dressed." He considers the danger grave, but not immediate. The foundations are, he says, the worst point.

When made they were sufficient for the original buildings, but during the succeeding centuries the admirers and lovers of Venice wished to embellish the Cathedral and made the load the foundations have to carry too heavy.

MARY STUART'S LIFE.

Last Friday night a large and appreciative audience greeted James J. Fitzgerald at Mackin Council Hall, and for an hour and a half every eye was held spellbound by his eloquence. The young Irish orator was introduced by Ben Sand, who also welcomed the ladies and gentlemen in the name of Mackin Council. After congratulating Mackin Council upon having secured its elegant home Mr. Fitzgerald said his discourse would not be a lecture, but rather his own conception of the life and character of Mary Stuart. Turning back the pages of history to 1532, ages before the beauties of this country were dreamed of and before this hemisphere was scarcely known to Christian civilization, he dwelt upon the troublesome time in which she was born, and painted a magnificent picture of her beauty, talents and virtue before she had scarcely reached womanhood. No other woman in the world was so much courted by the nobility of all countries of Europe, and while on the throne her reign was one of love and admiration. The story of her life in France, the joy with which she was received in Scotland, and later the intrigues and treachery that caused her death, were graphically pictured, especially the scenes enacted before the execution. Upon its conclusion there was a great outburst of applause, and many expressed it the most able address they had ever heard. The address was one worthy any stage, and it may hereafter be heard in other cities.

HAGAN—MUIR.

Most Brilliant Wedding Seen For Years in Old Bardstown Cathedral.

Not many years has the historic old Cathedral at Bardstown been the scene of so brilliant and notable a wedding as that witnessed Wednesday, when Miss Mary Muir, of that place, became the bride of Robert J. Hagan, prosecuting Attorney of the Louisville City Court. The church was brilliant with lights and the altar banked with plants and flowers. As the bridal party entered the church the organ pealed forth a beautiful wedding march, and upon arrival at the altar the two happy young people were met by the Very Rev. Dean O'Connell, who performed the marriage ceremony. The lovely bride was attended by three bridesmaids—Misses Mamie Muir, Anna Logan Muir and Theresa Talbot, all of Bardstown. William D. Wolf, of this city, was the best man, and the other attendants being Judge Frank Daugherty, Hon. Emmet Slattery, Lorraine Mix, Steve Fulton, Alphonse Merritt and Charles Cotton. Upon leaving the church the bride and groom and a large number of friends and relatives of the happy couple were entertained at an elegant wedding dinner at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hagan left for an extended Southern honeymoon trip. Upon their return they will reside in this city with Col. Frank Hagan, father of groom. Quite a large number went from Louisville to witness the ceremony, thronging the church to its utmost capacity.

RELIGIOUS DOG.

Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, Owns One Which He Greatly Values.

The famous St. Bernard dog trained to a show of religious practices by a Benedictine monk has a rival in a collie owned by Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia. The collie struck up an acquaintance with the Archbishop one day while he was taking his customary walk in Fairmount Park and thereafter stuck close to the heels of the prelate, even to the doors of the episcopal residence.

"Begone!" commanded the Archbishop, who was afraid that some one might think he was trying to amuggle the handsome animal into the house. The dog went sheepishly down the steps, but catching sight of the Archbishop's kindly look, bounded up again, wagging his tail.

"Well, come in, then," said the prelate, and the collie obeyed with a bound. Since that day, a year ago, he has been an attaché of the Archbishop's household. He knows how to put his paws together in an attitude of prayer, he "sings," thumps the piano with his big paws and exhibits penitence for misbehavior. The students around the archiepiscopal residence have taken the greatest pains with his religious education, and the collie would use more thick of barking during religious service than he would of trying to pick a quarrel with the sculptured hound on the lawn. During religious processions he assumes of his own accord an attitude of respect, sitting on his hind legs and remaining motionless until the procession passes.

The dog had not been long in the possession of the Archbishop before Monsignor Ryan discovered that he belonged to another man, who was much chagrined at his loss. This real owner approached the Archbishop as he and the collie were strolling in the park one day.

"I beg your pardon, sir," said the man, "but that's my dog."

"Maybe it is," said his excellency, laughing. "I never was sure he was mine. He followed me home."

The stranger called to the animal, which seemed delighted to see him. Then he showed the Archbishop that the collie had a pedigree which would arouse the envy of half the blue-blooded dogs in the city.

"I've spent weeks hunting for him," resumed the stranger, "and now that I've found him you can have him."

The Archbishop offered to buy the dog, but the man insisted that he accept the collie as a gift, and he did. Every morning now the collie accompanies Monsignor Ryan on his walk through the park. He knows the hours of the services in the Cathedral and can be usually seen at the side door waiting for the Archbishop to come out. Whether there is service or not he never tries to enter the church.

The dog's value is rated at about $500, but five times that amount could not buy him from the Archbishop.

There is a deadlock in the Legislature over the Capitol site question. The taxpayers must pay $1,000 a day for this. How long can they stand the outrage?

TO HIMSELF.

Father Robinson, of New York, Had the First Cabin of Big Ship.

Three Times a Day the Band Played For His Entertainment.

All Due to the Fact That Priest Was the Only First Cabin Passenger.

IT GREW A BIT MONOTONOUS

Seldom has a potentate in these latter days traveled in greater state than did the Rev. Paschal Robinson, of St. Francis' church, in Thirty-first street, during his voyage from Genoa to New York City on the steamship Prinz Oskar. At his disposal was a suite consisting of practically all the first-class accommodations on a 7,000-ton ship. A dozen or more stewards stood ready at any moment to answer his beck and call. What he should eat received the consideration of the chef and his large force of assistants. Three times a day the band played for his entertainment. Had he so chosen he could have slept in a different room each night and then had two dozen to spare.

All this was due to the fact that Father Robinson practically was the only first cabin passenger on the steamer all the way from Naples. There was another man on the list, a naturalized American, but he had many friends in the steerage—among them he passed his time—so that all the luxury of first class travel had to be borne by Father Robinson. From Genoa, from which port the ship left January 7, to Palermo and Naples, there were many passengers, among them several Americans. So disagreeable was the weather off the Italian coast that most travelers who had expected to sail from Naples decided to extend their stay on shore to wait for the Deutschland. When Mount Vesuvius faded from view Father Robinson found he had the first cabin to himself.

At dinner the band played as usual, the stewards served the meal with a degree of deftness and rapidity almost unequalled on shipboard. There was a steward to serve "hors d'œuvre," another who brought on the soup, a third who was ready with fish, and so on through all the courses, while one steward did nothing but whisk away the dishes. The leader of the band directed his musicians through a long and varied programme. This was repeated at every one of the sixteen dinners that followed. Sometimes the captain was present and sometimes one or more of the other officers. Sometimes for breakfast or for luncheon Father Robinson had the big dining room and all the attendants to himself.

"It grew a bit monotonous," said Father Robinson, with a twinkle in his eyes. "Three weeks is a long time to spend on shipboard. There were times when I cheerfully would have given the band $5 not to play. Still I am a very good sailor. I had some writing to do and this proved an excellent opportunity."

IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Rt. Rev. Edmond M. Obrecht, of the Trappists, Will Spend a Year.

His Holiness Pope Pius X. has commissioned the Right Rev. Edmond M. Obrecht, abbot of Getsemane, to visit the Trappist monasteries in South Africa and report on their condition. Abbot Obrecht will be absent on this mission for a year.

Messrs. Michael and Joseph Herrmann are compatriots of Father Obrecht, all three having been born in the same province in France. A few days ago F. Joseph Herrmann received a letter from Father Obrecht, dated Port Said. The Abbot was then about to sail through the Suez canal. He sent his regards and best wishes to his old friends in Kentucky and asked that they remember him in their prayers. Father Obrecht is a personal friend of the Pope, having made his acquaintance when he was a Cardinal in Venice.

IRISH IN AMERICA.

Fourth Volume of Historical Society Will Be Read With Interest.

The fourth volume of the Journal of the American-Irish Historical Society, edited by Thomas Hamilton Murray, its Secretary General, has been issued. It is replete with interesting information, like the three preceding volumes. This society continues to maintain the high standard established by its founders, and is doing a vast amount of good in its chosen field, to-wit: A fair, historic, accurate statement of the part Irishmen took in the early development of the United States. The President of the society is William McAdoo, Police Commissioner of New York, and John D.

DISMISSED

Damage Suit Brought Against the Sisters of the Good Shepherd.

Lizzie Green Says She Never Authorized Unwarranted Proceeding.

One of Many Unfounded Complaints Against Sisters Falls Flat.

DEPOSITION OF PLAINTIFF TAKEN

The suit brought by David T. Smith and William T. Burch against the Sisters of the Good Shepherd for damages on behalf of Lizzie Smith resulted in a verdict for the Sisters, the jury being out only a few minutes. The case was pending in the Jefferson Circuit Court, Common Pleas Division, Judge Field presiding, for several months.

Smith and Burch have been notorious for several years in bringing suits against the Sisters for alleged damages. As a rule their clients have been disreputable persons.

In the case of Lizzie Green, whose action they had dismissed on Wednesday of this week, it is clearly shown that the woman was a person of disreputable character, and even with that she had no desire to bring suit for damages, but was urged on by Smith to do so. (In passing it may be stated that Burch, one of Smith's associates, is the attorney who brought suit against the Louisville Bar Association for damages for disbarment proceedings instituted against him. His suit was dismissed as without cause of action. Dr. David T. Smith, alleged lawyer and physician, does not know that the days of Know-nothingism and A. P. Aism have passed, and periodically brings suit against the Sisters or any other Catholic institution he may feel aggrieved against. This doctor-lawyer imagines that he is the guardian of all those having a grievance against the Catholic church.

In the case of Lizzie Green, Dr. Smith's client, according to her own statements she is a woman of bad reputation. Her deposition was taken in the office of James J. Fitzgerald and Allen Kinney, Mr. Smith being present. The deposition is a long one and is too lengthy for publication, but some extracts will be of interest.

Being duly sworn Lizzie Green deposed that she was forty-four years of age and lived on Ninth street, between Main and Market, and that she was also known as Lizzie Ward. In November, 1902, she was arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct and had on several previous occasions been arrested for the same offense. She testified that she was a chambermaid in an assignment house kept by Mrs. Malock and that Lawyer-Doctor Smith came to that house and asked her to sign the papers authorizing the suit against the Sisters of the Good Shepherd.

On the 12th day of November, 1902, it appears in evidence that Lizzie Green, the plaintiff, was brought into the Police Court and was fined $20 for drunkenness and disorderly conduct and required to give a bond of $1,000 for a year. In lieu of this fine and imprisonment Lizzie Green asked to go to the Convent of the Good Shepherd, a reformatory conducted by those Sisters on Bank street, and remain until the expiration of her sentence. She testified in her affidavit that the Sisters treated her well and that at the expiration of her term she went to St. Louis, when she entered a convent there. Her idea was to reform and quit her evil life. She deposes that she never authorized Smith and Burch to bring the suit for damages against the Sisters, but was prevailed upon to do so.

In view of all this comment is unnecessary.

Why Doctor-Lawyer Smith should pursue the Sisters of the Good Shepherd in the way he has been doing is amazing. He deserves sympathy rather than censure, possibly. The Sisters of the Good Shepherd are doing a grand work in this community, and efforts to discredit them by persons like Smith and Burch will have no effect upon them.

WILL NOT HELP.

British Government Refuses Any Legislation For Ireland.

John E. Redmond, Chairman of the Irish Parliamentary party, speaking at Lusk on Sunday, said he had reason to know that the British Government had no intention to propose any remedial legislation for Ireland at the coming session, but that on the contrary it would endeavor to reduce Irish representation in Parliament. It would therefore, Chairman Redmond said, be the duty of the Irish party to precipitate a general election. Such action doubtless will bring into power a ministry that would make some concessions to the demands of the Irish Nationalists, who should continue the balance of power in Parliament.

Everywhere the Nationalists are united and large meetings are held almost daily.

QUARRELS IN THE LEGION.

The city of Louisville and the county of Jefferson has made arrangements to go to heavy expense to provide an armory for its citizen soldiery, known as the Louisville Legion. No sooner had these arrangements been made than a quarrel occurred between the various ranking officers, under Col. Biscoe Hindman. His subordinates charge that he was not legally elected and make other complaints against him. It seems to us if the officers of the Legion can not agree they ought to disband, and allow the money appropriated for the military to be devoted to enlarging the police and fire departments or improving our public charitable institutions, even to assisting the Salvation Army. To be effective the military must work harmoniously and there must be discipline in the ranks. It seems ridiculous to see the soldiers fighting their battles in the newspapers. Evidently the Legion needs a thorough reorganization.

BILL SHOULD PASS.

In a message to Congress on December 8 President Roosevelt said: "In my judgment the most important legislative act now needed as regards the regulation of corporations is this act to confer on the Interstate Commerce Commission the power to revise rates and regulations, the revised rate to at once go into effect, and to stay in effect until the court of review reverses it."

As soon as this message was made public nearly every railway President in the country began a systematic crusade against the President's ideas being carried out in Congress. It is to the President's credit that he stands by the message and semi-officially states that he will call an extra session if necessary to carry the bill through. The people are with President Roosevelt in this matter and so is the majority in Congress. It remains to be seen what the result will be. The House Committee on Interstate Commerce has approved the bill, and it will soon be up to the Senate to act.

CAUSE OF FAMINE IN IRELAND.

The cause of the widespread distress among the poor of certain counties in Connaught, Ireland, was ably set forth in a public address by John Redmond, M. P., in the public square at Roscommon lately. Mr. Redmond, who is probably the best posted man in Ireland on the land situation there, said that about one-fifth of the whole land of Ireland had passed, under the land act, from the hands of the landlords to the tenants since the act had gone into effect. Where the lands had been sold to tenants at fair valuations there was little if any distress.

The distress in the County Roscommon and other counties in Connaught was mainly due to the fact that the landlords, as a body, were refusing to sell the grass lands and are seeking impossible prices for their estates. They were asking more for bog lands, mountain lands, etc., than the landlords had sold their estates in Leinster and Ulster, where the land was the very best in Ireland.

In the face of the failure of the potato crop in Roscommon the landlords were issuing processes against these poor tenants who were unable to pay. It was cruel, Mr. Redmond said, to appeal to the charity of the world to meet this distress. The landlords could relieve the distress by throwing open the vast grazing tracts uninhabited and owned by a handful of rich men who crowd the people into bog and mountain, where it is impossible to maintain themselves in the barren swamp and arid rock.

Mr. Redmond pointed out that where the land was rich there was no population, but where it was poor there the population is dense and crowded. Such conditions are inhuman and makes poverty chronic and famine periodical. The continuation of such a policy cries to heaven for vengeance. It would justify the people in adopting any means which were open to God-fearing men to bring it to an end.

THE BEEF TRUST DECISION.

The United States Supreme Court unanimously decided that the corporations composing what is known as the "beef trust," with headquarters in Chicago, was an unlawful organization and that its methods were in restraint of trade and commerce under the Sherman act. The original decision was made by Judge Peter Grosscup, of Chicago, United States Circuit Judge. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, of the United States Supreme Court, writing, affirmed the decision, which was concurred in by all the Justices. The decision will have a far-reaching effect, it is predicted, and will do away with some of the outrageous practices of the trusts, of which the beef combine was the leader. Had not President Roosevelt, backed up by the people, taken such a firm stand of late against these unlawful combinations the decision would never have been rendered. Judge Grosscup deserves the thanks of the American people for making the original decision and the Supreme Court is to be congratulated on waking up.

Of the $50,000 pledged by the United Irish League of America to be sent to Ireland for the Parliamentary fund $35,000 has already been forwarded by John O'Callahan, of Boston, Secretary of the League. The States contributing the largest sums were: Pennsylvania, $12,800; Massachusetts, $8,806; New York, $4,166; Illinois, $3,500; Missouri, $1,300; New Jersey and Montana, $500 each. Canada contributed $3,616.

The committee arranging for the reception here of President Roosevelt when he makes his trip South have been notified that he can spend but two hours in Louisville. This is quite a disappointment, as it was hoped to have the President here for at least eighteen hours to receive as hearty a welcome and reception as he ever experienced.

Very Rev. Thomas F. Hickey has been appointed Coadjutor, with the right of succession, of Bishop McQuaid, of Rochester, N. Y. Father Hickey is the present Vicar General of the diocese and was born in Rochester in 1861. Bishop McQuaid is one of the oldest Bishops in the country. He is now in the South for his health.

Cardinal Gibbons has put a quietus on the charges made by Senator Bard relative to the Catholics and the Indian missions. Evidently some one has been meddling in affairs where they had no business. The Catholic church has no political agent at Washington or anywhere else.

The Holy Father is now seventy years of age.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Summary of Latest News from All Over the United States.

Memphis Council will hold its next initiation on Sunday, February 26, when a large class will receive the degrees. All the nearby councils are expected to send big delegations and a large gathering of Knights is looked for.

In Massachusetts the Knights are very numerous and influential. The Mayors of Cambridge, Lowell, Woburn and Medford are members of the order.

A charter has been granted by the National Council for the first council to be instituted at Manila.

One hundred and fifty new councils were instituted during 1904. The membership at the close of the year was over 126,000.

Hon. Thomas H. Carter, United States Senator-elect from Montana, is a member of Helena Council.

The Supreme Council has granted permission for the exemplification of the fourth degree in Los Angeles during the National Council meeting. The date set is Saturday evening, June 10. There will be a parade, during which the visiting Knights and the candidates for the degree will participate.

Denver Knights have raised $20,000 and will erect a handsome building for club purposes.

Narragansett Council, the mother council of the order in Rhode Island, set a worthy example when it decided by unanimous vote to assist in carrying out the project of endowing a free bed in St. Joseph's Hospital for the use of all members in the State. Several other councils have taken similar action, which assures the carrying out of the undertaking.

The total number of deaths reported since the order was instituted up to January 1, 1905, has reached 2,217, an average of ninety-six per year, which is much less than the death rate in similar insurance organizations.

WILL STUDY LAW.

Lawrence Ford, Councilman from the First ward in Jeffersonville and one of the most popular railroad men on the Pennsylvania system, has announced his intention of resigning his position to take up the study of law. Councilman Ford has qualifications that peculiarly fit him for that profession, and among his Irish friends his success seems but a matter of a short time.

Dr. H. D. Rodman and wife are home from a pleasant visit with Judge Thurman and family at Springfield.

Mrs. J. O'Brien was hostess to the Young Ladies' Euchre club last Tuesday at her home, 605 Twenty-sixth street.

Miss Gertrude McGinn, of 515 West Chestnut street, is just recovering from a painful bone felon on her right hand.

Edward A. Mehler, the well known lumber man, has just returned from an extensive business tour through the South.

Mrs. Wible Mapother and daughter, Miss Helen, have gone to Sea Breeze, Fla., where they will spend the rest of the winter.

Mrs. Henry Besten will entertain the members of her euchre club Tuesday afternoon at her beautiful new home in the Highlands.

George Russell, who has been in New York City for ten days buying the spring stock for the Golden Rule store, will return Monday.

Otto Vent's numerous friends are glad to see him again presiding over the Manhattan restaurant, after a week's illness of grip.

Capt. and Mrs. Frank Hagan went to Hardstown Tuesday evening to be present at the Hagan-Muir marriage ceremony in the old Cathedral.

Miss Ella O'Connell entertained Tuesday evening at her home, 1025 East Washington street, in honor of Miss Mary Murray, of Covington.

John Murphy, at one time a well known and popular in the Louisville & Nashville blacksmith shops, lies critically ill at his home on Twentieth street, near Duncan.

D. J. Gleeson, one of the popular employees of the Robinson-Norton Dry Goods Company, returned to his duties Monday, after a two week's illness of pneumonia.

Thomas McSweeney, of Newark, Ohio, a well known locomotive engineer and member of Rosecrans Council, K. of C., is here on a visit to his cousin, Thomas Keenan, the undertaker.

The many friends of Letter Carrier Thomas Fitzpatrick will regret to learn that he has suffered another attack of rheumatism and is unable to leave his home on West Madison street.

The many friends of Mrs. Edward Procter, of 904 East Walnut street, will be sorry to learn that she has been seriously ill for the past several weeks, but her physician now predicts a change for the better.

Little Katherine Glenn, the daughter of Mrs. Will Glenn, who underwent a successful operation for appendicitis last week at Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital, will in a few days be able to be removed to her home in Oakdale.

Messrs. Nicholas and George Kannappell, of New Albany, arrived home Friday from Bowling Green, where they went to attend the wedding of Edward Kannappell and Bertha Branch, which was solemnized in that city on Wednesday.

Mrs. George Kelley left the first of the week for her home at Springfield, Ohio, after a delightful visit of three weeks with Miss Mary Slattery, 1250 First street. Mrs. Kelly was extensively entertained and made many friends while there.

Charles Hamilton Musgrove, the versatile poet of the Evening Post staff, has just recovered from a two weeks' illness of the grip. Mr. Musgrove is a bright shining light in local newspaper circles and his poetic efforts have been favorably commented upon by Eastern critics.

Mrs. Ellen Moran, of New Albany, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Katherine Moran, to Samuel Fisher, who will be married this month. The bride-elect is a daughter of the late Patrick Moran and is most popular in the social circle in which she moves.

Another young acrobat has arrived at the home of Jerry Hallihan, 1714 Portland avenue, and the genial Captain has been spending the week at home in honor of the little guest. Col. Joe Taylor has already been after the youngster's application for membership in the Hibernians.

A handsome son was born Sunday evening to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph True-deau, 414 East Ninth street, New Albany. Joe will now do "stunts" for a smaller though none the less appreciative audience than that which gathered to witness his performance at Unity Council's annual minstrel show.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dietz, 1036 East St. Catherine street, announce the engagement of their pretty daughter, Miss Louise Dietz, and William Nussbaum, a well known carpenter. The marriage will be solemnized with a nuptial high mass at St. Vincent de Paul's church on March 1.

The most enjoyable of this week's social functions was Miss Eva Raidy's reception last Monday for the members of her euchre club at her home on West Main street. The parlors were tastefully decorated and the charming hostess was assisted by her mother and sister. After the games exquisite favors were distributed and a dainty luncheon was served.

the many friends of James L. Newhall, the popular West End letter carrier, and especially those living on his route, who was recently ill of the grip and threatened with pneumonia, that he has recovered sufficiently to resume his post and will this morning appear with the Kentucky Irish American and his usual bundle of good news.

One of the most brilliant Hardin county weddings of the season was solemnized Wednesday in St. James church at Elizabethtown. The contracting parties were Miss Mina Bading, the lovely and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bading, of Sonora, and Henry McDermott, a prominent and influential resident of Elizabethtown. Rev. Hugh Daly officiated at the beautiful ceremony, which was attended by large numbers of friends of the bride and groom, who have been leaders in Hardin county society circles.

John Casey and Miss Daisy Martz, well known and popular young people of the West End, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at St. Charles Borromeo church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Raffo and was witnessed by a large gathering of friends and relatives. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Sarah Martz and is a young woman of many charming traits of character, and the groom holds an important position in the bindery department of the Morton Book Company on Main street. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left on an extended Eastern honeymoon trip. Upon their return, February 12, they will be at home to their friends at 815 Twenty-eighth street.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season will take place at St. Charles' church next Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock when Miss Mary E. Loran, a highly esteemed young lady of the West End, will be married to Louis Doyle, of the Atlas Coal Company, Father Raffo performing the happy ceremony. The bride-elect and groom have a wide circle of friends and acquaintances to whom this announcement will be a welcome surprise. Miss Loran is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Loran, 1034 West Jefferson street, and has been a society favorite since she made her debut. Mr. Doyle has for years been engaged in the coal business and is now interested in the Atlas Company. The young couple will make their home for the present with Miss Loran's parents.

DOUGHERTY & KEENAN.

Well Known and Successful Undertakers Dissoive Partnership.

The partnership that has existed for the past ten years between Daniel Dougherty and Thomas Keenan, one of the best known and most successful undertaking firms in the Southwest, was dissolved on February 1 by mutual consent. For some time this move has been contemplated and therefore the news will not surprise many. During the years they have been together fortune has smiled upon them and both are now in comfortable circumstances.

Neither will retire from the undertaking business, however, as will be seen by the cards in our advertising columns. Mr. Dougherty has purchased and fitted up the large building two doors west of the house occupied by the old firm, and has already entered actively into the business. Mr. Keenan will continue at the old stand, the only change being in the telephone number. By the terms of settlement there was a division of the bears, hacks, horses and other property, therefore each is well equipped and ready for any calls that may be made upon them. Both men have a large following in business and society circles, and in this rapidly growing community there is ample room for them to continue in future the success they have achieved in the past.

JOLLY BOX PARTY.

Miss Adele Schneiderhan was the guest of honor at a jolly box party given at Hopkins' in celebration of her birthday. Occupying seats were little Misses Adele Schneiderhan, Mildred Schneiderhan, Margaret Higgins, Venita Johnson, Elvira Rothe, Emma Green, Leota Witten Bierach, Minnie Louise Overton, Marie Hess, Gertrude Cunningham, and Messrs. Thomas Ryan, Coleman McGuire, Karl Emig, Elmore Rothe, and Miss Leone Thomas.

LOFTY AND NOBLE

Sentiments Expressed by Ladies' Auxiliary of Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Order Placed Under Special Protection of Blessed Virgin.

Expect to Initiate a Class of One Hundred Next Month.

BEAUTIFUL PRIZES FOR THE EUCHE

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians held their most successful meeting since organization Wednesday night, when two applications were received and announcement made that the degrees would be conferred on a class of one hundred on March 15. Miss Rose Sweeney reported that great interest was taken in the eucire and dance to be given Monday night at Schreiber's Hall and that many beautiful prizes had been secured for distribution. The news of the continued illness of Miss Katie Anabro was received with feelings of sadness, as she is a favorite with all the members. A communication was read from State Secretary Hunt, and resolutions adopted by the State Board were read by Miss Mary Corcoran and incorporated in the minutes. Greetings were sent to the auxiliaries at Covington and Paris, and during the social hour the ladies were entertained with an artistically rendered solo by Miss Lizzie King and a pleasing and witty address by Miss Mary Murray, of the Covington auxiliary, who has been spending several weeks with friends in this city.

The resolutions above referred to were signed by Misses Mary Corcoran, Mary Foley, Mary Cavanaugh, Mayme Sullivan, Rose Sweeney and Maggie Callahan, of Louisville; Misses Ada Conklin, Lula Murphy, Ella O'Connor, Mrs. Jennie McDonald, Mrs. Nora Meyer, and Mrs. Finnegan, of Covington, and Misses Catherine O'Brien and May Seery, of Ashland, and are as follows:

Resolved, That as we meet today for the first time we place the order of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in Kentucky under the special protection of our Immaculate Mother Mary, the model of all Catholic womanhood, and ask her direction in all our undertakings, as she was the truest of spouses, the most loving of mothers, and the most pleasing of Virgins, and choose for our patron St. Bridget.

Declared, That we, representing the Irish and Irish-American women of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Kentucky, assembled here in Covington for the first time, express our loyalty to the church, and as the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of Kentucky we hereby affirm our filial devotion to the church, our love for the Emerald Isle, her people and their descendants and our steadfast allegiance to America; that we fully appreciate the freedom and religious liberty given to our people and all others in this glorious land of the free, and we sincerely wish a cordial relationship with all people.

Resolved, That the object of our society is to encourage and assist by word and example all Catholic women, particularly those of our own nationality, to be faithful to the teaching of our holy mother the church and practice those pure and heroic virtues that have been characteristic of the women of our race for ages.

Resolved, That we mourn the loss sustained in the death of our illustrious Leo XIII. and give grateful thanks to God that He has given us the grand and noble Pius X. to rule the church on earth and as his children we offer him our fealty and devotion.

Resolved, That we as women, knowing as wives, mothers and daughters the blessed influence of a happy home, give our approval to all just methods to stamp out the dreadful evil of divorce, one of the most destructive elements of mutual happiness.

Resolved, That we demand and encourage Catholic education for Catholic children as is approved by the Roman Catholic church.

Resolved, That we demand respect for our people by the press and on the stage, that we discountenance anything of a tendency to place our people in a false position, and that we endorse all forms of amusement that is elevating and will bring them to their true standing.

Resolved, That we endorse the Kentucky Irish American as a clean and high class Catholic journal and the staunch friend of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in Kentucky.

Resolved, That we tender our sincere thanks and regret that words can not express our gratitude to the members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Ladies' Auxiliary of Covington for the cordial greeting extended to us and a hospitality that could not be surpassed.

Resolved, That as this is the first convention in Kentucky of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H., that the name of each lady who was a delegate be signed to these resolutions, to be a record for those who may come after us many years hence.

FATHER BOES' GUEST.

The Very Rev. William H. Harty, of Lebanon, was last week the guest of the Rev. Father Edward Boes, at Pewee Valley. During his stay Father Harty met many non-Catholics as well as Catholics, and his visit was altogether an enjoyable one. Father Boes is doing excellent work and has awakened a renewed interest in religion in that section.

RECENT DEATHS.

In her seventy-third year Mrs. Julia Muenninghoff, mother of Mrs. Johanna Gocke, passed away Monday to meet the reward of a well spent life, after an illness due to her advanced age. Her funeral occurred Wednesday morning from St. Martin's church.

The funeral of Mary Maher, the aged and always obliging housekeeper at St. Peter's rectory, took place Monday morning with solemn high mass of requiem. For many years she had faithfully filled the position and was favorably known to almost every member of the parish.

It was with feelings of deep sorrow that the friends of Mrs. Maria Garrity learned of the death of her promising fifteen-year-old son Pierce last Monday morning at the family residence, 609 Twenty-sixth street. His funeral took place from St. Cecilia's church Wednesday morning, when a host of friends and associates of the dead boy attended the solemn requiem mass for the repose of his soul.

Mrs. Ella Flanagan Weller departed this life Monday at her home, 1819 Griffiths avenue, at the age of sixty years. Deceased was well known in the West End and highly respected for her many Christian virtues and her devotion to her religion. Her funeral took place Thursday morning from St. Patrick's and was largely attended, many coming from other cities to be present at the funeral mass.

Sunday afternoon Mrs. Frances Weber, an old and respected Catholic lady, died at her residence, 1227 Story avenue, of infirmities incident to one of her years. Mrs. Weber was a devout Catholic and was one of the original members of St. Joseph's church. She was born in Germany, but came to this country when a child and has resided in Louisville ever since. Three sons, Joseph, Michael and Charles Weber, and two daughters, Miss Frances Weber and Mrs. John Kuebert, survive her. The funeral took place from St. Joseph's on Tuesday morning and was largely attended.

VISITED OLD FRIENDS.

Capt. Patrick Tierney, a well known steamboatman who spent his boyhood days in Portland, is here this week visiting old friends and former associates.

Capt. Tierney is now the first mate of the biggest towboat in the world, the Finley, which is tied up at Jeffersonville, awaiting the clearing of the channel, when she will proceed to New Orleans.

SATOLLI COUNCIL.

Its Future Welfare Discussed and Important Measures Decided.

Matters pertaining to the future welfare of Satolli Council were discussed Monday evening and certain important measures were decided upon, but for the present they will not be made public. The membership contest goes merrily on, Harry Colgan's side leading with two more new members, J. Vincent Brown and William Leaby. The Pope side landed one, Edward Clem. With Joseph T. Kelly, Albert Schranz and a number of others they will be received into the Young Men's Institute next Monday night. It was decided to continue the contest till March 13.

Chairman Zorn announced that Satolli's pro-tem social season would close with an invitation dance at the Weissinger-Gaulthier building on Monday evening, March 6. James B. Perry was elected Librarian and steps will be taken to secure more books and periodicals for the reading room.

Supreme Delegate Colgan read a letter from Supreme Secretary O'Brien, giving assurance that the new ritual will soon be furnished the councils. As each council will hereafter have charge of its own initiation, Messrs. Will McNally, Harry Colgan and Attorney Sam J. Bol-drick were appointed a degree committee to arrange for the next reception of Satolli members, when the revised ceremony will be exemplified.

GYMNASIUM

Will Soon Be Ready For Members of Mackin Council.

The 300 members of Mackin Council will be gratified to learn that their gymnasium will soon be completely fitted up and ready for occupancy. Louis Keifer, Jr., who has had much experience in athletic exercises, has consented to superintend the gymnasium and will devote one evening each week to the instruction of the classes that are to be formed.

Another membership contest has been inaugurated between teams headed by Frank Adams and Ben Sand, the winners to be feasted at the first meeting after Easter. Clem Benker, George Simonis and Thomas Lewellyn were reported on the sick list. The meeting was a large one, and a resolution was adopted to present all members that rescue three applications a handsome gold button of the Young Men's Institute.

President Kerber announced that on next Tuesday night Attorney Newton G. Rogers would address the members on an interesting subject, and he therefore hoped there would be a large attendance. Mr. Rogers is an entertaining speaker on Catholic subjects and all who can do so should be present to hear him.

TRINITY LIBRARY

Has Become Popular With the Young Men of the Council.

Trinity Council, Y. M. I., held its regular meeting at the club house Monday night, with a very fair attendance of members. The Librarian submitted his annual report, which showed that the library has come to be regarded as one of the most popular features connected with the council. Many fine books have been donated during the past year, Edmund Slattery, the well known young attorney, who has worked for the library since its start, leading in the number contributed. Standard works grace the shelves and on the tables will be found many of the leading Catholic newspapers and magazines.

President Cooney presided and appointed a committee to arrange for the annual banquet, which will take place soon after Lent. Trinity's banquets have heretofore been the source of much enjoyment for the members, and efforts will be made to make the coming one unique in several ways and more notable than its predecessors. The application of John E. Gahsler was received and will be initiated as soon as the Membership Committee reports. Quite a number of compliments were thrown at Emil Moutb, the efficient Secretary, who keeps a most complete record of all the business.

ALTAR SOCIETY EUCIRE.

The ladies of the Altar Society of St. William's church will entertain their friends at eucire next Thursday night at the hall on Twelfth and Kentucky streets. The games will be called promptly at 8 o'clock, and when they are finished there will be dancing. Those having the affair in charge are Mesdames Peter Coleman, Hollenkaup, Wagnert and Blau, and they promise an enjoyable evening for those who attend.

VISITING FRIENDS.

The Rev. John Fitzgerald, pastor of the Church of the Annunciation at Shelbyville, left last Sunday for New York, to spend a couple of weeks visiting friends and relatives. During his absence one of the Franciscan fathers from this city will minister to the wants of the congregation.

Mr. Donald Markerr, whose proficiency as a lightning landscape artist has been acknowledged wherever he has exhibited, has been engaged by us for an unspecified time. He will example his skill in our East show window. By making special arrangements with Mr. Donald Mar-kerr, we will be enabled to offer real Oil Painting Pictures, depicting beautiful landscapes in a most natural like appearance, at lesser prices than any exclusive art gallery in Louisville could sell.

In Order to Take Advantage of These Offerings

You must have a coupon which will be given to every person whose purchases in our store amount to One Dollar or over. No Picture Can Be Purchased Without a Coupon. Whether you intend to purchase a picture or not, we ask you to come and enjoy an interesting view at hundreds of paintings, shown in our basement salesroom.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

Large numbers of apple trees are being planted in the Glen district.
The body of Daniel Harte, victim of a boating disaster in Roaring Water bay, has been recovered.

P. C. Doogan, M. P., has held a number of successful meetings in various parts of his constituency.

At the Athboy fair prices for cattle, which have been depressed for some time, showed an improvement.

The Most Rev. Dr. O'Neill, Bishop of Downmore, received a popular welcome in Newry on his return from Rome.

A representative meeting was held in Wexford to support the demand for the maritime works act for the Southeast coast.

An attempt to renew negotiations with Lord Kenmare for the sale of his estates in Kerry to the tenants has proved abortive.

The Maryborough Magistrates have refused to grant a license under the new club act to the Maryborough Workmen's Club.

Patrick Carroll, postman at Trim, has been sent to trial on a charge of withholding 118 letters entrusted to him for delivery.

The Abbeyliscle District Council has decided to discontinue to levy a rate in aid of the county scheme of agriculture and technical instruction.

The Drogheda corporation has adjourning the consideration of the sale of their agricultural estate to the tenants till after the municipal election.

William Rothwell, one of the prisoners charged with the murder of Francis Tully at Ballyhaise, County Cavan, on Christmas night, has been discharged.

Three additional cases of small-pox have been reported in Belfast. The usual precautions were taken with regard to the houses from which the patients were taken.

At a meeting of the North Westmeath
Executive of the United Irish League the question of the division of the grazing and untenanted lands was discussed, and a fighting policy was recommended.

A meeting of the tenants on the property of Lord Talbot de Malahide was held at Malahide to consider the action of the landlord in breaking off the negotiations for purchase which had taken place last October.

John Dillon, M. P., was the principal speaker at a large demonstration held at Tuan. During the meeting Mr. Kelly, who holds the celebrated Carrowkeel farm, came forward and announced his intention of surrendering it.

Thomas O'Grady, a Cork cattle dealer, was bound to the peace at Mallow on a charge of having intimidated a man who holds a farm which belonged to O'Grady's father. The defendant refused to find bail and was taken into custody.

At the annual convention of the Gaelic Athletic Association at Thurles a proposal to erect a suitable memorial to the late Archbishop Croke, patron of the association, was referred to the Central Council to take the necessary steps in the matter.

A fire, which proved very destructive, broke out in the extensive premises of George Graham, hardware merchant and general ironmonger, at Ballymena. The rear and part of the front buildings were practically gutted before the fire was got under control.

Several Catholic residents of Banbridge have lodged claims for compensation with the Town Clerk for damage to their property caused during the recent disturbances which took place in the town in connection with the meetings held by a Belfast street preacher.

More than a month ago at a meeting presided over by the Bishop of Ardagh and Clonmacnoise steps were taken to erect a town hall in connection with the temperance hall which his lordship is building at his own expense. Another proposal is now advanced in favor of the acquisition of a building by the Urban Council for the purpose of a town hall.

The Most Rev. Dr. Miller, O. M. L., the new Bishop of Johannesburg and Apostolic Administrator of South Africa, paid a visit to his native town of Mount-rath, and received a very enthusiastic public welcome. Addresses were presented, to which his lordship replied.

At the quarterly meeting of the Directorate of the Poor Law Association of Ireland the question of superannuation of poor law officers was discussed and it was decided to ask the Irish party to appoint a committee to draft a bill to be presented at the next session of Parliament.

John E. Redmond, M. P., attended a great meeting in Roscommon at which John Fitzgibbon presided, and at which John Hayden, M. P., for the division, and Patrick O'Brien, M. P., were present, and spoke. Redmond in a stirring speech referred at length to the redistribution of the grass lands, and bade the people of the congested districts to be of good cheer. The attention of the world, he said, was at present attracted to the congested districts, and the Irish party would go back to Parliament with conclusive proofs of the failure of the land act of 1903 to grapple with the Congested problem.

HOPKINS' THEATER.

Lovers of high class vaudeville are promised much next week at the Hopkins, when Paul Conchas, the most phe-

KATHRYN OSTERMAN.

nominal giant and juggler of the age and known as the "Army Hercules," will head a company of stars appearing here for the first time. The entire bill is made up of feature acts, one of the best being the merry comedy, "Emma's Dilemma," which affords Kathryn Oster-man opportunity to display her rare talents. New pictures will be seen on the biograph.

MACAULEY'S.

One of the most important events of the local theatrical season will be the appearance of William Gillette at Macauley's next Monday in the fantastical comedy, "The Admirable Crichton." The play is described as a "comedy fantasy" for the lack of a better term to describe the production, which stands absolutely unique in dramatic history. The original New York cast and production will be seen here entire. For the last half of the week, with Saturday matinee, "A Messenger From Mars" will be the bill, with Charles Hawtree in the leading role.

BUCKINGHAM.

For next week the Buckingham announces the return engagement of the Blue Ribbon Girls, the company numbering fifty people. Vandeville specialties and comedy burlesques, with pretty musical numbers and late songs, will make one of the best bills of the season. In the olio will be found several of the best known people on the vaudeville stage, a feature of which will be Ward's singing of "The Goo Goo Man," with seven changes of costume.

MASONIC.

"David Harum" comes to the Masonic Theater next Monday night for a week's engagement. This will be the first time that this famous comedy-drama has ever been offered at popular prices. The same scenic effects that characterized its original production and a capable cast will be seen in this presentation.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General
News Notes.

Thanks to the Ladies' Auxiliary.
There are ten divisions in Montreal and vicinity.

Glen's Falls boasts the largest and most influential division in the Empire
State, having a membership of 350.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Weymouth, Mass., observed its anniversary Monday night with an entertainment and banquet.

Mrs. Dr. McCann, formerly of Louisville, is taking a prominent part in the movement to organize an auxiliary in Omaha.

Division 3 meets Monday night. Rumor has it that the largest batch of applications ever presented to a division in the West will be received.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Providence added to their membership at a largely attended and interesting meeting last Sunday, and voted to hold a gentlemen's night on Friday evening.

Among the many joint installations none were more interesting than the one at Brainerd, Minn. Both the division and ladies' auxiliary lead the other fraternal societies of that town.

Division 2 of St. Paul will give a free card party and dance for the members and their friends February 14. This is done in order to make the order better known and gain new members.

Remember that the Hibernians are the greatest Irish Catholic society in existence and that every member in Louisville should secure at least one candidate for the St. Patrick's day initiation.

There should be a big meeting of Division 4 Wednesday night. All who are interested in the initiation and banquet for March 17 and the prize contest will by present to hear the report of President Hennessey.

The presentation of a handsome gold badge to retiring President James Buckley was the feature of a large meeting of Division 6 of Minneapolis. During his term the division has more than doubled its membership.

Every Hibernian in Louisville should attend the crotch and dance of the Ladies' Auxiliary at Schreiber's Hall on Monday night. The ladies have arranged an excellent programme, that embraces some pleasing surprises.

Thirty years ago the Hibernians of Louisville held their first parade. On that occasion the divisions of Newport and Covington participated and at night were tendered a banquet at the Louisville Hotel that is not forgotten.

Father Dowd delivered an interesting address on Hibernianism when the officers were installed by Division 2 of Portland, R. I., after which all repaired to the banquet hall and enjoyed a fine repast and the social that followed.

WINCHESTER.

Leading Citizens Installed as Officers of Major Council.

Major Council, Y. M. I., of Winchester, one of the most energetic in the Kentucky jurisdiction, installed its officers for the ensuing term at the meeting held last week, when the annual reports showed the society in better condition than ever before. This council is one of the pioneers of the order, and is largely indebted for its success to Rev. William Ryan and Messrs. Thomas L. and J. F.
Nunan, who have always been active for its welfare. The officers installed, who are among the leading men of Winchester, are as follows:

Chaplain—Rev. William B. Ryan.
President—J. B. Donaboe.
Vice President—Thomas O'Brien.
Second Vice President—J. P. Tobey.
Recording Secretary—Jas. A. McCourt.
Financial Secretary—J. F. Nunan.
Marshal—W. J. Cone.
Treasurer—J. P. Conway.
Sentinel—T. I. Molloy.
Executive Committee—T. L. Nunan,
Chairman; Matt. Toohy, S. Duille, J.
E. Shea, M. J. Toohy.
